CLASS

FRESHMAN YEAR

The early morning September sun shone brightly as we, the new North Andover freshmen, filed briskly into the auditorium. Being the largest class in our new high school's short history, we no doubt experienced the greatest confusion. Oh, those first few days; searching for classrooms, meticulously "cracking" our locker combinations, and attempting to follow our schedule cards!

We learned that our class wasn't the only newcomer to the school. Additions had been made to the teaching staff including Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Brown, Mr. Christison and Mr. Perrault.

Having grasped, after a week or two, the mode of high school life, we elected our class officers. Our first president was Joseph Trombly who, four years later, was chosen as our Good Government Day representative. David Bamford was our vice-president, and John Virr our secretary-treasurer.

The unfortunate death of Superintendent of Schools Francis O'Brien was indeed the saddest event of our first year. Mr. O'Brien was replaced by our very capable superintendent, Mr. Douglas Chandler.

In January, upon the retirement of Miss Clara Chapman, we welcomed Mr. Thomas Regan to our school.

In early March it was announced that David Bamford and Richard Arold had won the Brooks School Scholarships. Although we were happy to see them win, we all regretted to see Dave and Dick leave.

We watched our basketball team dump Immaculate Conception of Revere, whip Msgr. Prevost of Fall River, and then lose a heartbreaker to Case High of Swansea, 63-60, and with it the Tech Tournament Championship.

Hilarity was the keynote at the annual school play entitled "Quit Your Kidding," the highlight in April.

Soon June arrived and with it the summer vacation.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

By the time September rolled around again, many of us were anxious to get back to school.

Again class officers were to be chosen. John Strobel was elected president, with Etta May Nadeau as vice-president and Sally Drummey as secretary-treasurer.

The football team "kicked off" the year in high style by whipping Andover and Methuen high schools to clinch the "Little Three" laurels.

The Photography Club and the Science Club were formed early in the year, with Mr. Robinson the adviser to the former and Mr. Regan and Mr. Foderaro the co-advisers of the latter.

David Palmer received first prize at the State Science Fair held at M.I.T. in April.

This was the year when a bespectacled young man arrived at our school from Germany. Harold Damerow was welcomed into our class, and built for himself a wonderful reputation both scholastically and socially.

The school play, "Our Miss Brooks," delighted the audience with its rollicking comedy. Our class was well represented by Miss Donna Hammond and Joe Trombly, who played the leads. Eleanor Stang, Martha Meeker, Charlotte Hitchcock and Bill Rock were also in the cast, with Kathy Roberts and Pat Harrington as understudies.

Maureen Jacques, Donna Hammond, Joan Artimovich, and Margaret Matraw were inducted into the National Honor Society, being the first of our class to achieve such an honor.

After turning back Chelmsford and Don Bosco high schools, our basketball team defeated Oliver Ames High School of Easton, 71-64, for the Class C Eastern Mass. Championship. The championship, which had been so close at hand for the last three years, finally was ours through the fine strategy of Coach Larochelle and an all-team effort.

At this point we shall not forget to mention the new teachers added to the staff. They were Miss Desrosiers, Mrs. Dimlich, and Mr. Hills.

Thus another year ended.

HISTORY

JUNIOR YEAR

We returned as juniors, pleased with the idea of being called upperclassmen.

Shortly after the beginning of the new school year, the following were elected to lead our class: Bill Whittaker, president; Alan Foster, vice-president; Sally Drummey, secretary-treasurer.

The faculty additions were Mr. Keegan, Mr. Robitaille, and Mrs. Grossman.

In September, we received and proudly wore our class rings.

Six members of the class were received into the Honor Society: Shirley Frost, Eleanor Stang, Camille Gilberto, Dolores Verda, Joseph Trombly, and Kathy Roberts.

Our class was not lacking in members with acting ability, and we were well represented in the school play by the following: Donna Hammond, Bill Rock, Eleanor Stang, and Joe Trombly. Camille Gilberto and Priscilla McAndrew served as understudies.

Junior year is the year to elect captains, and the following were elected: Mark Henry and Alan Foster in football, Etta May Nadeau in field hockey, John Strobel and Bob Shann in boys' basketball, Cindy Watts and Margaret Mattraw in girls' basketball, Elwood Pratt and Doug Howard in track, John Strobel and Alan Foster in baseball, and Eleanor Stang in cheerleading.

Serving with the class officers on the prom committee were Sandy DeBurro, Bob Shann, Linda Crane, and Bill Rock. This event was the highlight of the social calendar.

The end of the school year came soon after and we were all vacation bound.

SENIOR YEAR

We returned in September of 1959 as seniors. It was hard for us to believe that we were beginning our last year at North Andover High.

The results of the class election showed that Bart Licciardi was to serve as our president, Alan Foster as our vice-president, and Kathy Roberts as our secretary-treasurer.

We took pleasure in welcoming to our faculty Mr. Forgetta, Mr. Hall, and Mrs. Douglas; and we were sorry when Miss Bailey found it necessary to resign during the year.

We had fourteen members inducted into the Honor Society, an unusually high number: Gerry DeFusco, Pat Harrington, Joyce Rennie, Dave Stott, Bill Rock, Cindy Watts, Peggy Curtis, Marian Thomson, Sally Drummey, Rita Carroll, Vincent Gemelaro, Kay Scanlon, JoAnne DeMario, and Harold Damerow.

Peggy Curtis was elected Football Queen, and her court included Kay Scanlon, Donna Hammond, Jeannine Thibault, and Eleanor Stang.

As the time approached for graduation, the commencement honors were announced: Donna Hammond, valedictorian; Shirley Frost, salutatorian; Margaret Mattraw, class essayist.

Joe Trombly was chosen Good Government Day Representative. Margaret Mattraw was the recipient of the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award.

The leads of the school play were given to Donna Hammond and Bernie O'Keefe. Other seniors participating were Dauny Kawash, Priscilla McAndrew, and Dick Smith. Jeannine Thibault was an understudy.

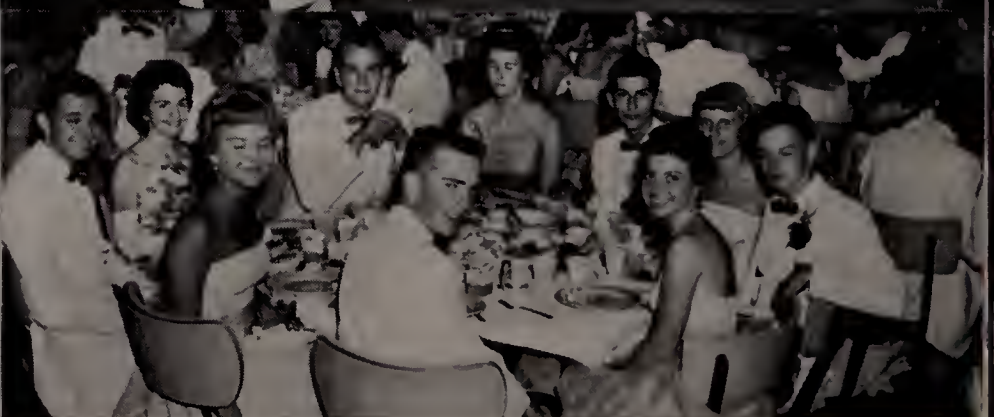

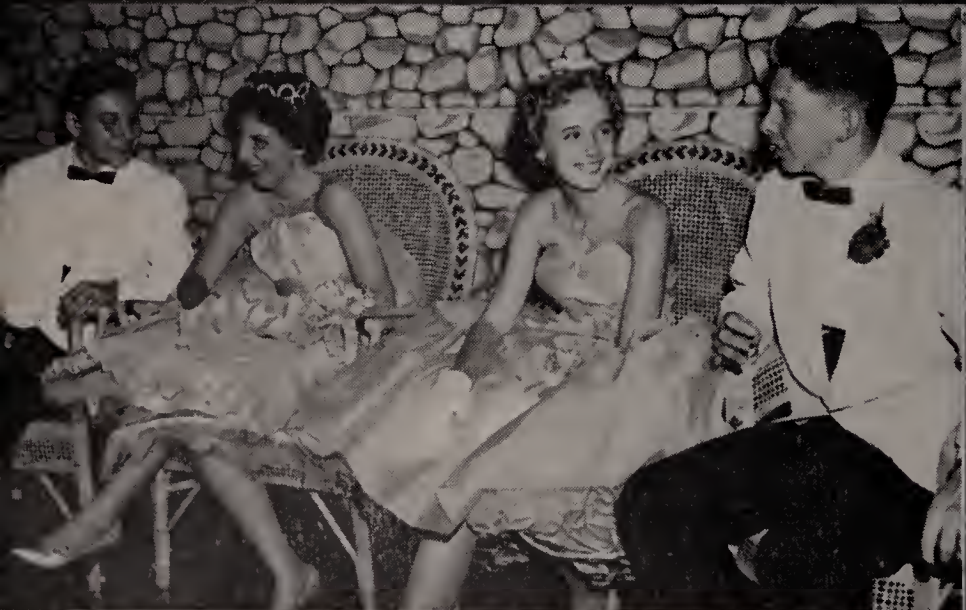

At one of our class meetings, Joe Trombly was elected as class orator. Kay Scanlon and Bart Licciardi were chosen to serve as our class marshals.

The prom committee was headed by the class officers assisted by Bill Rock, Margaret Mattraw, and Arlene Flynn.

Our high school days ended on June 17, 1960. They were happy days which left us with many pleasant memories.

Respectfully,

Mary and John

JUNIOR & SE

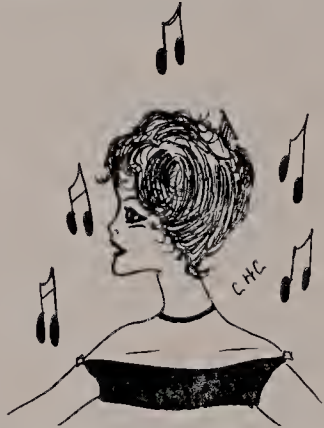

JUNIOR PROM

June 15, 1985

Dear Bill,

I was so happy to learn that you were the one to tie with me on the winning of the Sweepstake Contest. It was all so exciting and the trip I won was simply marvelous. It is to tell you about that that I am writing now. It turned out to be a lovely two weeks of renewing old friendships.

Before I left, I paid a visit to Saks 5th Avenue and talked to the top buyer of women's clothes, my old friend Cindy Lampros. Cindy outfitted me with the latest styles and made me promise to come back and tell her all about my trip when I got back to New York. I promised I would and then left to catch my plane for the sunny South. Never having been aboard a plane before, I was quite nervous, but after boarding, I found the two hostesses to be old friends. They were Carol Morse and Joanne Gesing. I felt much calmer, knowing I was in such good hands. But that wasn't all. Aboard the plane I met Elaine Gerhmann and her two darling children.

They were on their way home from a visit with her mother. It was a delightful trip, but I was glad to get my two feet on the ground in Atlanta, Georgia.

I hailed a taxi right away to take me to my hotel after the long ride. I was surprised to see that the taxi driver was John Cormier. While riding along he told me about Doug Howard, who is also a taxi driver.

When I arrived at the hotel I said goodbye to John and went in. The face of the hotel clerk looked familiar and, on closer examination, I recognized Eddie Manseau, distinguished looking with a few gray hairs at his temples.

That night I went to a well-known night club in town. I sat down at a table and the waitress came over. It was Barbara Hassey, and beside her was Joan Artimovich. They stayed, talked awhile, and told me I would have a big surprise when the floor show came on. About an hour later the master of ceremonies came out. I gasped to see Bill Aspinall. My surprise mounted when I found that the star singer was Sue Stamp, now called Lucille LaFleur. She sang beautifully and later came over and talked to me. She told me that she had a letter from Carole Andrew, now the star skier at a ski resort in New Hampshire that is owned and operated by Clark Lewis and David Livesey. We talked over old times, and I told her that I was working as a telephone operator in New York City along with Louise Bodge, Joanne Bettencourt, Dolores Verda, and Marcia Zigelis. While we were sitting talking, Bob Elliot, Allie McGregor, Daniel McRobbie, and Jack McIntyre came over and said hello to us. They were all in uniform and told us that, finding army discipline easy after their training in high school, they had made a career of the service and had settled down with their families on a nearby base. After a very pleasant evening I returned to my hotel.

The next morning I left for Florida by train. On the train I met the Arcari twins, Ann and Pat. They said they were on a business trip for an advertising firm where they are secretaries. Pat said she had heard from Judy Foulds, who is working in Western Electric and still living in North Andover. She had told Pat that Carol Bashaw, Joanne Bonanno, and Joan Pellerin worked with her. Carol Casale is also at Western and is the top stenographer for the vice-president. Just about then the conductor came along; it was smiling Bob Salemme. He said that Arthur Scannell and he had been with the railroad for about fifteen years.

A little while later we arrived in Miami. In the station I saw Delia Candiano. Chatting with her, I learned that she was teaching children to dance. She also told me that Bill LaBelle is working in Arthur Murray's Dance Studio and is the leading male teacher.

I left Delia shortly after and proceeded to my hotel. Because the weather was lovely, I decided to go for a walk. Just then I saw a stunningly-dressed woman coming towards me. She looked very familiar and, as she got closer, I could see it was Margaret Lee. She recognized me right away and we stopped to chat. Margaret is working as a teacher in a grammar school out West, and she and her husband were in Miami for a couple of weeks' vacation. As we talked, I found that Linda Crane, Sally Drummey, and Margaret Curtis are also teachers in Massachusetts. Margaret also told me that Joyce Holland is a business teacher and Kathy Roberts an English teacher at our dear ole Alma Mater, North Andover High. I then said goodbye to Margaret and went on my way.

After my walk I decided to go down on the beach. While I was sitting there, a little girl came over who told me her name was Joanne Carroll and she lived in Massachusetts and was down in Miami visiting her aunt who was a nurse. Talking a little longer, I discovered that her aunt was an old classmate of mine, Rita Carroll. Joannie and I walked over to her aunt's house where I saw Rita. We had a wonderful visit together, in which I learned that she was a registered nurse. She also told me of Ann Perruccio, who is working with her.

Shortly afterward I left and returned to my hotel. That afternoon I decided to take a tour of famed Cape Canaveral. I was fascinated by the place, but I became more interested when I learned that Bill Birtles, Stanley Brown, Harold Damerow, and Ken Johnson were all working there as scientists. That wasn't all. David Palmer and Vincent Gemellaro are in charge of all the scientists, with Wendy Houghton as their private secretary. It was an educational as well as interesting tour, and I was sorry I had only a short time to stay.

The next morning I started on my voyage across the sea in a beautiful boat. The passengers were all friendly. I had a wonderful trip and met some more of our old classmates. First of all I met a very old friend, Linda Bazin, who was accompanied by Jeannine Thibault. They were on separate trips but had met each other aboard. Linda is working as an executive secretary in Chicago, and Jeannine is a hairdresser in a small town out West. We talked over many good times during those seven days. In that time I found out that Eleanor Stang is the principal of a grammar school in Brockton, Massachusetts; and Mary Schruender has taken over her father's business in North Andover and has become one of the richest women in town. Oh, I forgot to mention that Bob Kettinger was aboard ship. He is a reporter for Time Magazine and was going abroad on a special assignment. Bob told us that David Tetler and Peter Lemieux are partners and own a department store somewhere in Massachusetts; and that Paul Schwenke and John Kirk are in the undertaking business.

Seven days later we arrived in Le Havre, France. From there I took a train to Paris. It was a beautiful city and I had a hotel room with a lovely view.

The next day I went shopping and met Margaret Matraw, who is teaching school there. While we talked, I learned that Maureen Jacques and Leatrice Cole are physiotherapists. Priscilla McAndrew, Arleen Flynn, and Margaret Hawkes are also in Paris on some kind of tour they won. It has something to do with horses, as they are all in that business. Arleen is a trick rider, and Priscilla and Margaret own a riding academy. From the hotel Margaret and I went to lunch, and who do you think was the head waiter? Well, it was suave Chuck Merrill, and the owner of the cafe was none other than effervescent Whitman Haselton.

After an exciting week in Paris, I boarded my plane for the long ride home. Well, talk about knowing the hostesses! These two turned out to be Carol Belanger and Ginger Ganem. We had a long talk on the way home and discussed the old days and the kids we knew. While exchanging gossip, I learned that Etta May Nadeau was coaching a world-famous girls' basketball team and that they were doing very well. Linda Crudale and JoAnne DeMario are both working in department stores out in California, where they are dealing with famous movie stars every day. Kathleen D'Urso and Mary Throp are working with the government, and Carol and Ginger see them quite often in their travels.

As you can readily see, my trip was most rewarding and the person who said "It's a small world" sure was right. I hope you will write soon and tell me all about the highlights of your trip.

Sincerely,

Gail Bolderson

June 27, 1985

Dear Gail,

Thank you for your interesting letter. I am glad you had such an enjoyable time on your trip. My trip was a lot of fun too. I owe it to you to exchange accounts with you to repay you for the letter you sent me.

Before the trip even began, I went to Virr and Ventura's Department Store to purchase some new luggage. Jack and Tom mentioned that you had been there to buy luggage too. I sometimes get car- or train-sick, so I went to O'Keefe's Drug Store to have Bernie fill my prescription. Now that I had new luggage, I needed a new set of clothes, so I stopped at Bob and Al's Clothing Store. It was good to see that Bob Nicolosi and Al Snook were still the best of friends.

Well, I finally made it to the airport just in time to catch my plane. As we took off, the stewardesses, Sandy DeBurro and Kay Scanlon, advised us to fasten our safety belts because our pilot, Bill Deyermund, was a real "Airways Cowboy." When we were finally in the air, I looked around and Bob Woodhouse and Guy Richards met my eye. They were headed for a television technicians' convention in New York. At last, after pleasant sailing through stable air, we touched ground once again. As soon as I stepped out of the plane, about ten cabbies yelled "Taxi!" In their midst I noticed an old friend, Elwood Pratt, who drove me to my hotel.

The next day I decided to tour New York. I stopped at the Stock Exchange Building. Inside I could see Russell Lord, pacing the floor; he certainly looked worried. After seeing all there was to be seen in the city, I went to the football game. I had a chance to see Dick Sanborn coaching his Bronx Bombers. At the game I happened to see Joanne Zemba and Cindy Watts, who were still ardent sports fans on the side, but had to sit in front of a typewriter eight hours a day for Malcolm Cohen.

My next day I spent on the train headed for Chicago. When I arrived in Chicago, I was met by a couple of old classmates, Joe Trombly and John King, who were mayor and fire chief of Chicago, respectively. As I browsed around the city, looking at the sights, I noticed a rather large building under construction. The sign on the building told me that it was being built by C. Alan Foster and Sons, Construction Company. I met Dot Whittaker, who was Dave Stott's private secretary, and she explained to me the fundamentals of the Stott Cattle Company. That was all for Chicago. My next stop was Los Angeles.

I had been stationed at Los Angeles during my stay with Uncle Sam, and I wanted to visit my old home. I also looked up Andy Moynihan there. He had made a career out of his military obligation.

It was hot in Los Angeles, so I decided a swim in the hotel pool would feel great. As I was swimming, I noticed Lee Humphreys, Franny Vynorius, and George Windle were all keeping a watchful eye on the pool. They were the hotel life guards. I must say we were in safe hands.

After my swim, hotel manager Jim Lisauskas recommended the hotel dining room to me. His recommendation was good and so was the service. Judy Sabin, the waitress, told me that Dick Newman and John Friel were the head chefs and would like to know how I was enjoying the food. It was delicious. Two tables down from me, I noticed Sheila Ramey and Mildred Minardi enjoying a good meal too. I went over to them to learn what they were doing in Los Angeles. They said they owned a millinery shop in San Francisco and were here on a combined business-pleasure trip.

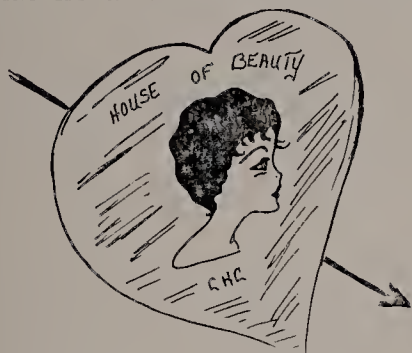

That night there was a concert. I had to hear the famous Bill Rock evoke miracles of melody from the piano. Also a treat to hear were Marian Thomson and Pat Harrington, as they revived old favorites. That was all the time I had for Los Angeles, and I felt that it was time well spent.

I had a brief stop in Phoenix, Arizona, where Bart Licciardi was an influential member of the city council. Bart also reunited me with Anne Gaudet and Mary Griffin, who were secretaries in City Hall. It got hot in Phoenix, so I moved on to Houston, Texas.

I decided to go by bus to Houston. Just as we entered the city limits, the bus broke down. Mark Henry and Rick Fenton came speeding to our rescue, for theirs was the only gas station equipped to take care of such a bus.

When I reached my hotel, Jeff Kress took my bags and showed me to my room. I decided to take a jaunt around Houston. You can imagine my surprise when I happened upon Paul Jurkewicz's new used car lot. In the lot I noticed Paul was selling a Cadillac to the noted physicist Jim Sullivan. Jim and I chatted for a while and he told me that he and Dennis O'Neil were doing research on a new spaceship. He also said I would remember his secretary, Anne Pinaud. I sure did!

Back at my hotel I noticed Sandy Malo and Barbara Stott on the sun roof, soaking up a tan. They told me that a model needed a good tan. Well, that was Houston; my next stop was St. Louis.

This time I switched to the train as a means of travel. On the train the conductor, Ken Chenard, gave me the royal treatment. He informed me that Bob Waddington was the engineer and a real good jet driver. Looking out the window, I saw Mike Steinberg's farm bustling with activity. Next door I saw rows on rows of big red strawberries. Immediately I thought of Joyce Rennie and, as it turned out, my hunch was right. It was her strawberry farm.

When I arrived in St. Louis, I found that I was quite short of funds. My first stop was the bank; I needed some money from home. I was given quick service by Danny Kawash and Harold Cranston at the bank. They had me rich again in no time.

Now that I had a little money I decided to take an old fashioned bus ride around the city. I had a little time to talk to Joe Forgetta, the driver, before we left. As the bus drove on, I spied a sign which read, "Sam Zappala and Bob DiFalco — All Kinds of Auto Body Work Done." I could clearly remember their hot Chevies of many years ago.

As we passed the baseball field, I noticed the starting pitcher for St. Louis to lay was John Strobel. I guessed that Dick Slipkowsky, the coach, knew what he was doing when he picked John.

After I got off the bus, I crossed the street and was immediately picked up for jay walking by the crossing guard, Joyce Stanganelli. Well, now that I needed a lawyer, I was lucky to find Dick Smith. He got me "off the hook." St. Louis was really my last stop before heading home.

I had traveled by every means except jet rail car, so I decided that was the way I would finish my trip. I rented a rail car from Charlie Faro's fine selection of jets. No sooner had I left St. Louis than I went off the rail. I had to walk to a nearby school to use the phone. Pat Minihan and Donna Hammond showed me where to call. They were both teaching in the school. Donna told me that Gerry DeFusco was also teaching, in a school not far from here.

When Ed Ferguson and Ray Gagnon had my rail car fixed, I was on my way once again. About noontime hunger set in, so I stopped to eat at a diner. I was given good service by Linda Cohen, the wife of the proprietor.

That night I stopped at a motel. I was shown to my room by another married classmate, Norma Pitman. She and her husband had a swell tourist business and liked it as well.

I got up early in the morning because I figured I could make it home in that one day. I had breakfast at Wainwright's Cafe. I guess Mary Ann has to get up early to keep us early birds happy.

I knew I was making good time so I stopped in a small town in Connecticut for coffee. To my surprise, next to the coffee shop I saw Shirley Frost and Camille Gilberto, trying to persuade Bob Agey to buy some of their insurance. Well, after coffee it was only one more delay; a stop for ice cream at Pat McDonald's store. Maureen McAloon made me a gigantic sundae and I could hardly finish it. When I spotted Ruth Pinaud's beauty shop, I knew I was back in North Andover.

I enjoyed my trip tremendously and, more than the trip, I enjoyed meeting old friends. Well, it surely is a small world.

Sincerely,
Bill Whittaker

C L A S S

We, the graduating class of 1960, hereby relinquish our brilliant and outstanding traits and abilities to our most humble successors.

To the faculty we leave our earnest thanks and our deepest sympathy for the remains of their steel-covered nerves.

To North Andover High we leave our thanks for many wonderful memories.

RUTH PINAUD and JOANNE BETTENCOURT leave their ability to get along with their teachers to JANICE KASPARIAN. Now you're sure to get all A's, Janice.

BOB AGEY leaves his thriving paper route to ROGER BEELEY. Keep up the good work and you may be an editor some day!

BARBARA STOTT leaves her Saturday nights spent at the Center to CHARLOTTE GALLANT. To BILL CASALE goes BILL ASPINALL'S love for geography.

PAT MINIHAN leaves her ability to make people laugh to CAROLYN CLARK. (Ha-ha!)

DAVE PALMER and BILL BIRTLES relinquish their scientific knowledge to DOUG WILSON.

GERRY DeFUSCO — after some coaxing — leaves her long, curly eyelashes to DOROTHY BELETSKY.

KEVIN BURKE, BLAKE ADAMS, and GERRY CORRADINO will keep their school books as neat looking as STANLEY BROWN and PAUL JURKEWIC did.

MARCIA ZIGELIS leaves her art of setting lockers to VERA GRYNIEWICZ and CAROL MURPHY. Don't get caught, girls.

GUY McCLELLAN inherits KENNY CHENARD'S and GUY RICHARDS' ability to make custom cars. Keep them looking good, boys.

GEORGIA HAIGHT inherits ANNE GAUDET'S large brown eyes.

JOHN CORMIER leaves his soda jerking talents to BARRY SHEA.

CAMILLE GILBERTO and BARBARA HASSEY leave their curly, sleek, shiny black hair to VIVIAN AZIZ.

To WALTER HUNT and DON BOYLE go HAROLD CRANSTON'S and MARK HENRY'S Gillette Blue Blades. See if you can scrape the rust off them.

CYNTHIA LAMPROS leaves her car accident insurance to JUDY OLMS. It's all paid up, Judy.

BILL DEYERMOND and CHARLIE FARO leave to BILL LEE their love for outdoor life.

LINDA COHEN leaves her trips to the Dairy Queen to SUSAN PHELAN. Don't get fat, Sue.

HAROLD DAMEROW and DAVE STOTT leave their mathematical minds to PETE BATTAGLIOLI, NICK KOSTANDIN and JERRY GARNICK.

LEETRICE COLE leaves her Problems notebook to JUDY DUDA.

To ALFRED BOUSH go BOB DiFALCO'S funny(?) jokes. See if you can get a laugh.

MARGARET HAWKES finally leaves her knack for getting into mischief in school to GERALDINE PARAH.

BOB ELLIOT, GEORGE WINDLE, and JOHN McINTYRE reluctantly give their reserved seats at Woody's to BOB LYNCH and MAL NORWOOD.

MARGARET LEE leaves her one-man complex to JOANNE CAMPBELL.

WILL

FRANK WINDLE, RICHARD VENTRILLO, and HENRY FREDETTE will keep up ED FERGUSON'S love for school.

JOANNE BONANNO sadly leaves her favorite subject, spares, to MARY O'CONNELL.

To JOHN RANDONE go JOE FORGETTA'S sideburns.

MAUREEN McALOON leaves her seat in the detention room to ELIZABETH STILLWELL.

The quiet and easy-going ways of VINCENT GEMELLARO go to BOB McLELLAN. Keep it down to a dull roar.

WENDY HOUGHTON and LOUISE BODGE leave their many weekend trips to Pease Air Force Base to PAMELA ROY and SANDY GREGOROWICZ. Have fun, girls.

BOB SALEMME leaves his old rusty trumpet to WAYNE LAMBERT.

DOT WHITTAKER and JOANNE ZEMBA will their height to MARGARET HOSKING and BEVERLEY SCANNELL.

SAM ZAPPALA and JOHN KING leave their many sweaters to DENNIS DONOVAN and JIM DAWSON.

JOYCE STANGANELLI leaves her long curly hair to SCHARI STIEBITZ. Good luck Schari. Maybe you'll have it for your graduation.

WHIT HASELTON happily gives his favorite seat in detention to TOM SHANN.

PAT HARRINGTON and ANN BATTERBURY leave their many stylish clothes to ELEANOR ROBERTS. Now you should look as if you had just walked out of the pages of Seventeen Magazine.

DOUG HOWARD leaves his great speed in track to PAUL CARDELLO?

ANNE PINAUD leaves her typing ability to CONNIE WILLIAMS.

To DAVID DEWHURST go KEN JOHNSON'S wind tunnel experiments.

JOANNE GESING and LINDA BAZIN leave their famous friendship to PAT FORGETTA and PAM NEVINS.

RAY GAGNON and PAUL SCHWENKE leave their Chevies to BOB PACKARD.

CAROL CASALE leaves her shorthand skills to THERESA deVEBRE and YVONNE ENAIRE.

BILLY LaBELLE turns over his dancing crown to JIM WHITTAKER.

PATRICIA DORAN is willed CAROL BELANGER'S ability to talk for hours.

To NATHAN FOSTER goes PETE LEMIEUX'S favorite hat.

PATRICIA ARCARI and MARY SCHRUENDER leave their motto "Ready, Willing, and Able" to MAUREEN CASEY. Put it to good use, Maureen.

DAVE TETLER leaves his long trips home to RICHARD RAMSDEN, DONALD FOSS, and DAVID MOORE.

JUDY SABIN leaves her hot rod and her book "How Not to Drive an Automobile" to JACQUELINE BEAUDOIN. Beware, North Andover.

To JIM HANOVER goes BART LICCIARDI'S political finesse.

SALLY DRUMMEY and JEANNINE THIBAUT leave their wide circle of friends to PATRICIA JANCO.

AL McGREGOR leaves his "hot Chevie" to anyone in the junior class careless enough to take it.

To CAROLE JEAN CAMPIONE go the quiet, ladylike manners of JOYCE HOLLAND.

DAN McROBBIE'S red hair goes to FRANK DUSHAME.

JACQUELYN PHILBIN inherits VIRGINIA GANEM'S many witty sayings and good humor.

CHUCK MERRILL leaves his desire to enter the Marine Corps to SAM GIRGENTI.

SHEILA RAMEY sadly parts with her many spares spent in the Guidance Office. However, she is sure that VERA FARO will make good use of them.

To JOHN THOMPSON and JIM CRANE goes BILL ROCK'S love for Andover girls.

BARBARA LOW inherits GAIL BOLDERSON'S many chauffeur-driven rides to school.

JOHN STROBEL leaves his basetball skills to DON STANKATIS. Watch out, Tech Tourney!

SUSAN STAMP leaves her theory, "He who laughs last doesn't understand my joke," to JANE CAREY.

JOE TROMBLY leaves his unique way of getting along with Miss Cook to RONNIE SULLIVAN.

On ANN SWASEY, RITA CARROLL bestows her artistic ability. Maybe you'll be another Rembrandt, Ann.

To LEIGHTON DETORA and MIKE SULLIVAN goes JACK VIRR'S and DANNY KAWASH'S love for algebra.

ANN MARIE ARCARI leaves her knack for going steady to SARA CLARENBACH.

MAL COHEN and AL SNOOK turn over their hot pipes to DON GALLANT. Let's hear 'em!

ARLEEN FLYNN leaves her good looks and gift of gab to GAIL DONNELLY, who is well equipped with both.

DICK SANBORN finally turns in his basketball practice shorts, not to the coach but to ADAM MARCINUK, who had a hard time trying to keep his.

JUDY FOULDS leaves her love for English to CAROL HOWARTH.

DICK FENTON and FRANCIS VYNORIUS leave their many walks with Mr. Cushing to JOHN MARTIN and JOE LaVALLO.

LINDA CRANE leaves her ability to know the latest to ROSEMARIE CAVALLARO.

SHIRLEY FROST and DONNA HAMMOND leave their many brains and wornout books to JUDY BODGE. Now you should be the smartest girl at N.A., Judy.

BOB WADDINGTON gives his love for gym to STEVE RABBITO.

TOM VENTURA — "He'll never tell."

SANDRA MALO and LEE HUMPHREYS leave their carefree, easy-going ways to DIANNE McCARTY.

ALAN FOSTER leaves his feats on the gridiron to JACK BUTLER.

MARCIA MOODY inherits KATHLEEN SCANLON'S and JOANNE DeMARIO'S charm. Use it the best way you know how, Marcia.

BOB WOODHOUSE gives his well used lawn mower to DICK HEIDER.

ANN PERRUCCIO'S quiet but mischievous ways are inherited by DIANE GAGNE and CAROL MURPHY.

To BOB CARROLL go ELWOOD PRATT'S track shoes.

CAROL MORSE and ETTA MAY NADEAU will show JOYCE LEE how to tell a joke in a quiet, easy-going manner. Carol and Etta had to go to school to learn, but they'll teach her out of the kindness of their hearts.

JEFFREY KRESS turns over his paper-eating ability to RALPH KANDRUT. Try hard, Ralph.

MARY GRIFFIN hands down to JILL HIMBER her love for Mr. Hall's spares. Don't do anything bad now, Jill; that is, don't do it if you're going to get caught.

CLARK LEWIS, after some coaxing, is leaving behind his orange socks.

MARIAN THOMSON and LINDA CRUDALE leave their school days to MARGARET CAIRNS. Don't waste them, Margaret.

ED MANSEAU leaves his wisecracks in Physics to MIKE KELLAN.

To CHARLOTTE BYRON and JOYCE BERUBE goes PAT McDONALD'S love for rock and roll. Do you dig this stuff, girls?

DAVID LIVESEY leaves his station wagon to ED DONAHUE.

BEVERLY CHAMPION is presented with MARY THROP'S and MILDRED MINARDI'S love for dancing. Central Catholic dances will really hum now.

To TOM LEVER goes BILL WHITTAKER'S great talent in the art of throwing the shot put.

CAROL BASHAW leaves, together with MARY ANN WAINWRIGHT, a winning smile to JACQUELYN MAGOON and JUDY TWOMBLY.

JIM SULLIVAN leaves his thriving taxi service to GEORGE SCHRUENDER.

PRISCILLA McANDREW leaves her latest book entitled "How to Hold a Man" to RUTH CURTIS. Watch out, Bart.

To DAVE ROBERTS go DICK SLIPKOWSKY'S many days spent golfing.

MAUREEN LAIRD will gladly accept JOAN ARTIMOVICH'S and MAUREEN JACQUES' high position in the Honor Society. Put it to good use, Maureen.

TOM CANTONE inherits DENNIS O'NEIL'S complete wardrobe.

JOYCE RENNIE and CAROLE ANDREW, girls of few words, leave to DOLORES BARBAGALLO and JUDY BELYEA their well-observed rule, "Silence Is Golden." Rules were made to be broken, kids.

DICK NEWMAN, JOHN KIRK, and BOB KETTINGER leave their clever methods on the mats to JACK DILENDIK and DONALD GREENWOOD.

PEGGY CURTIS sadly leaves her football queen's crown to SHARON GALEAZZI or BEVERLY HOYT.

DICK SMITH leaves his secret diet to FRANCIS VASELLO and JOHN LONGO?

ELAINE GEHRMANN and KATHY D'URSO leave their chronic case of "spring fever" to SHEILA KELLEY.

To JOHN TROIA go BOB NICOLOSI'S many French talents.

CYNTHIA WATTS and JOAN PELLERIN leave their friendly hellos to ANDREA LODGE and JEAN COFFIN.

BERNIE O'KEEFE leaves his skills on the diamond to DON MARKEY.

To BEVERLY DOW goes DELIA CANDIANO'S huge appetite.

MIKE STEINBERG leaves his thinking powers to LANSON HYDE.

KATHY ROBERTS and ELEANOR STANG hand over their many busy days to ISABELLA O'LEARY and EILEEN McALOON.

ANDY MOYNIHAN leaves his "shovel" to next year's physics classes

SANDY DeBURRO leaves her quaint little walk to MARGARET MAXWELL.

JOHN FRIEL leaves quietly, as he came.

NORMA PITMAN wills her sporty, crew-cut boyfriend to JANET STEPHENSON. Don't hold your breath, Janet.

RUSSELL LORD, JIM LISAUSKAS, and ARTHUR SCANNELL leave their model planes to BOB COLE.

DOLORES VERDA leaves her chair as telephone operator to EDITH SMITH.

MARGARET MATTRAW leaves her favorite Problems class and favorite Problems teacher to KATHY MURPHY.

After relinquishing many of our prized possessions, we bring to a close the will of our memorable class of 1960.

Wishing everyone luck,
Joanne and Jim

At the beginning of this school year, the Social Calendar Committee of the Student Council made out the social calendar for the school year. As in past years, Student Council members continued to render their services at the information desk and also to introduce special guests at school assemblies. The Council also inaugurated the custom of giving a report of each of its meetings to the entire student body over the intercommunications system.

A successful dance was sponsored by the Student Council on February 19.

Etta May Nadeau, Katherine Roberts, Nancy Caimi, and Nancy LaBelle represented the North Andover Student Council at a convention of the Eastern Massachusetts Division of Student Councils.

For the second year in succession, the Student Council held a scholarship drive. Because of the success of the drive, the Council voted to award scholarships to two members of the graduating class this year.

On November 24, the senior members of the Society attended a joint meeting, made up of representatives from several high school Honor Societies in this area, at Haverhill High School. Joseph Trombly, North Andover Honor Society president, took part in a panel discussion at this meeting.

This year, as in the past, the members of the Society assisted Miss Cook with the work of the school library.

The Society sponsored its annual dance on May 6.

During the year, the group gave a donation to the Photography Club to aid it in the completion of its film about North Andover High School. The Society also contributed twenty-five dollars to the school library toward books to be bought during the coming school year.

At graduation exercises, the Honor Society awarded twenty dollars to the senior student who had maintained the highest average in English during his four years in high school.

The Science Club put on its third annual Science Fair in March in our high school cafeteria. David Palmer won first prize for his basic rocket and ram-jet design exhibit; Douglas Wilson, second prize for his exhibit explaining the computation of dediacs per second; and Kenneth Johnson, third prize for his construction and explanation of a supersonic wind tunnel.

Douglas Wilson also won top prize in the mathematics division at Technorama IV, science fair for Merrimack Valley high schools, held at Lowell Technological Institute in April. He received a savings bond, a gold medal, and a plaque for our school, as well as a certificate from the U.S. Air Force for his ability in electronics. He represented the Lowell Technorama at the Massachusetts State Fair at MIT, where he won second prize with his exhibit. In May, at the first annual mathematics fair held by Assumption Preparatory School in Worcester, Douglas won third prize with his Dediatic II computer.

David Palmer, who won top honors at the eleventh annual Massachusetts State Fair held at MIT with his exhibit "Instrumentation and Advanced Power System for Missiles," represented our state at the New England Science Fair held in May at the Boston Museum of Science.

◀ Dramatic Club

Membership in the Dramatic Club, a new club this year, was open to all students in the high school. Members of the club took part in the annual school play and various assembly programs during the year, including a Christmas program. Meetings were held regularly during the preparatory stages of the various dramatic productions.

James W. McDonald, director of dramatics, was the faculty advisor.

In February, the Photography Club proudly presented the premier showing of its film of North Andover High School. This sixteen millimeter sound and color film was the result of two years of hard work, for which the group received a citation and award from the State Department of Education and the Massachusetts Secondary School Principals' Association. John Thompson, William Rock, John Strobel, Eleanor Stang, Donna Hammond, and Michael Broderick also participated in the production, which was under the joint direction of faculty advisors John Robinson and James McDonald.

In addition to this major project, the club supplied pictures for the High-Lites, the school magazine, and Inside North Andover Schools, the school department bulletin.

A dance, held on September 25, helped provide for the expenses of the group.

Throughout the school year the band played at football games and rallies, and marched in several local parades. The group was given honorable mention and a gold certificate for its performance in the annual Christmas parade in Lawrence.

The band also presented a musical program for the school at Christmas, and took part in the annual spring concert of the North Andover school system in May.

Also in May, the band presented a program at Pentucket Regional High School and took part in a band workshop at Chelmsford, as well as performing at an auditions festival and parade in Woburn.

On April 2, Judith Duda represented the band at the New England School Music Festival held at Plainville, Connecticut. Judy won a medal at this festival for her performance on the solo clarinet. She was accompanied on the piano by Margaret Hosking.

The basketball team won six and lost six of its Lowell Suburban League games. It tied with Chelmsford for third place in the League.

Margaret Mattraw, with 205 points, had the highest individual score for the year.

Etta May Nadeau with 28 points in one game, was the highest scoring individual in any one contest.

High scorers for the team included Etta May Nadeau, with 151 points for the season; Joanne Zemba, with 128; and Charlotte Byron, with 100.

Etta May Nadeau and Cynthia Watts represented the team in the All-Star game played at Chelmsford.

In March the team conducted its annual Girls' Basketball Dance, preceded by a game between the boys' and girls' varsity, during which the boys were required to wear handcuffs and stockings on their hands.

Cheerleaders

This year Eleanor Stang served as head cheerleader. Sally Drummey, Geraldine DeFusco, Linda Crane, Patricia Minihan, Barbara Bresnahan, Margaret Curtis, Mary Schruender, Margaret Lee, and Jeannine Thibault comprised the rest of the cheering squad.

During the season the girls cheered at all football and basketball games and held several successful rallies before important contests.

New cheering uniforms for the basketball season were purchased with proceeds from a combined exhibition and dance, held on October 22 in our gym, in which cheerleaders from North Andover, Andover, and Methuen participated. The cheerleaders also bought white megaphone emblems, with the initials N.A. upon them, to sew on their uniforms.

Majorettes

The following girls served as majorettes this year: Leetrice Cole, Joyce Holland, Georgia Haight, Maureen Laird, Constance Williams, Carolyn Clark, Carolyn Nelson, Loralyn Gillan, Mary Northam, and Joan Artimovich, leader of the group.

The girls are under the able direction of Clarence F. Mosher.

The majorettes appeared at all of the football games and also at the annual rally before the Thanksgiving Day football game. They also took part in several local parades and a music festival held on May 7.

The Knights, under the direction of Coach Robitaille, enjoyed a highly successful season, compiling a 17-6 record.

Under the leadership of Lowell Suburban League Star Center John Strobel, who pumped 286 points through the hoop in thirteen League contests, the North Andover five extended its unbeaten string in League play to fifty-three games before being dumped by Dracut, 52-45.

The N.A. cagers regained the Little Three crown from Methuen this year by nipping the Rangers 47-45 and 52-51, and tripping Andover 58-42 to avenge an earlier 63-42 setback.

A 71-70 loss to Chelmsford cost the team its fifth consecutive Lowell Suburban League title.

Both the varsity and freshman teams were represented in the Tech Tourney, the varsity being defeated by Wareham in a preliminary contest and the freshmen reaching the semi-finals.

After being shut out in their first two games 38-0 and 26-0, at the hands of Lynnfield and Dracut, the Scarlet Knights came back strong, behind Little Three All-Stars Al Foster and Bill Whittaker, to gain the Little Three crown. Methuen was whitewashed 14-0 and Andover was tied 6-6 by the North Andover eleven at the Thanksgiving Day classic.

Alan Foster was honored by being unanimously chosen as the outstanding quarterback in the Lowell Suburban League.

Hopes are high for the '60-'61 campaign with nine lettermen, headed by Captain-Elect Paul Cardello, returning to the gridiron wars. The Knights compiled an overall record of 4-4-1.

Our baseball team enjoyed a highly successful season for the second consecutive year. Coach George Lee's charges gained two victories over Andover and two over Methuen to regain the Little Three title. Andover was defeated 7-3 by John Strobel and 5-2 on Dick Sanborn's one-hitter. Strobel defeated Methuen 6-0 and Al Foster whipped the Rangers 6-3.

A 7-2 victory over Wilmington retained the Lowell Suburban League championship for us. However, we were beaten by Woburn in the Eastern Mass. Tourney quarter-finals.

The overall record for the Scarlet and Black was 14-4.

In their first year of varsity wrestling, the North Andover matmen fought their way to a very respectable 4-4-1 record. This included a double victory over Ipswich High and single wins over Groton and a highly-rated Needham team.

North Andover also participated in the Y.M.C.A. Greater Lawrence meet in which John Dilendik brought home, for the second year in a row, a first place in the 137 lb. class. Elwood Cobbett, John Ingram, Richard Whittaker, and Donald Greenwood took second honors; and Richard Newman, a third place.

As an added attraction of the season, North Andover met with Dexter, Maine. N.A.'s outstanding wrestler in the Dexter meet was Donald Greenwood.

The North Andover track team compiled a record of four wins and two losses during its 1960 season. The boys gained third place in both the League meet and the Little Three meet, running against some tough competition.

New records were set by Douglas Howard in the 880, Joseph Forgetta in the pole vault, and William Whittaker in the discus.

The high scorers of the season were Douglas Howard, with fifty-nine points, and Elwood Pratt, with thirty-two points.

This year's team was the best yet in this sport's history at North Andover.
